

EXPERT HORSE RACING HANDICAPPING!

February 3, 2026

Good morning Turf Club Members,

WHAT IS THE MOST PROFITABLE WAY TO BET IN HORSE RACING?

From the internet: There's no single "most" profitable horse betting strategy, but top methods focus on value betting (backing odds that are better than the horse's true chance), managing risk with systems like Dutching (spreading bets across horses), or leveraging specific outcomes with Exacta/Trifecta strategies (using a 'key horse'), all while emphasizing deep research and handicapping (form, track conditions, trainers), bankroll management, and patience over chasing big wins. Core

Profitable Strategies - Value Betting: Find horses whose odds are higher than their actual chance of winning (e.g., longshots that are consistent but overlooked) for big payouts. Dutching: Bet on multiple horses in a race, adjusting stakes so you win the same amount regardless of which selected horse wins, increasing win probability but lowering individual payout. Key Horse Strategy (Trifectas/Exactas): Pick one strong horse (often a favorite) and build bets around it, rotating other horses in different finishing positions (1st/2nd, 2nd/3rd) for higher payouts than simple win bets. Laying the Favorite: Bet against the favorite, as statistics show favorites don't win a majority of races; This requires finding why the favorite might lose (poor form, track conditions). 80/20 System: A risk-managed approach for win/place bets, placing 80% of your stake on a horse to "place", and 20% to "win," balancing consistency with bigger returns. Essential Supporting Practices – Research: Analyze past performance, trainer form, jockey stats, track conditions, and pedigree. Bankroll Management: Don't over bet; set limits and stick to them. Track-Specific Advantages: Bet at tracks (like some Kentucky venues) that pay to the penny for slightly better returns. Patience & Discipline: Accept losses as part of the game and move on, focusing on future opportunities.

WHY USE THE TRACKPRO REPORTS?

EXPERT HORSE RACING HANDICAPPING!

The Trackpro handicapping algorithm performs "deep research" on every contender in the race by performing what Trackpro calls "Comprehensive Handicapping". There is no bias in the Trackpro Value Rating (TPV) algorithm. Every horse has some chance to win does it not? The answer is yes. So why toss any horse, just because it may have been assigned a high morning line by the track racing analyst? Or why toss a horse just because it may have low win percentage connections? Some racing fans automatically toss horses that have been on long layoffs, or have not met self imposed restrictions like requiring a race and two workouts within the past thirty days for example, or some other restriction. There is nothing wrong with tossing horses when handicapping for one reason or another, because each racing fan has their own method of handicapping that works for them. But the Trackpro Value Rating (TPV) algorithm does not set handicapping criteria for any horse. It has no restrictions or conditions whatsoever. It simply looks at each handicapping factor set forth in the past performances (including pedigree and chart comments), makes a note of the data, and then proceeds along its way to the next handicapping factor, until it has come to the end of the file for each contender. The powerful

TPV rating is then assigned at the end of the file. The horses with the four highest TPV ratings are included in the report. As a result, the Trackpro reports contain a strong and competitive list of contenders that offer tremendous wagering value on most days. And the handicapping is also remarkably consistent! The TPV algorithm will list the winner in about seventy percent of the tens of thousands of races handicapped, and on some days, all of the winners will be listed! Of course, there are days when the contenders do not run as expected, and in that case, subscribers are entitled to a free replacement report or refund the next day. Very few professional handicapping services offer refunds or replacement reports, you can bet on that fact for sure! Trackpro wants subscribers to be successful, and win at the race track, and it can be done. In addition to the consistent handicapping, the Trackpro contender list contains plenty of overlooked horses that figure to win at hefty odds. A few recent examples are shown below:

Trackpro wants to show the Turf Club the actual published selections for the top longshot listed in the table above as proof positive that Comprehensive Handicapping works. Nothing works all of the time of course, but horses that

The winner #5 CALLA ($49.60) not only qualified as a TRIPLE OVERLAY in the report shown above, but was also marked with three Handicapping Tools to boot! 1) The trainer was adding Blinkers (b). 2) The horse was showing Speed Workouts (s). 3) The horse was demonstrating Early Speed (e) in its past performances. In addition, the Same Jockey (#) was returning to ride. So why was the morning line set at 20-1 by the track racing analyst? And notice the successful Brisnet Prime Power Rating ranked the horse seventh in this race. But the TPV algorithm is not easily fooled! Why? Because it performs comprehensive detailed handicapping. This four year old filly had not raced in 197 days, and finished a dismal seventh last race, beaten over six lengths at Colonial Downs last summer. The speed rating in that race dropped like a rock falling by eleven points. But there were plenty of signs this filly was sharp, given the two consecutive bullet workouts, and three works within the past 23 days. The trainer added blinkers, cut back the distance from 9.5 furlongs last race, to 8.0 furlongs given the early speed, and then probably watched in disbelief as the odds on the tote board floated up an additional three points from 20-1 to 23-1 at post time! Surely the horse figured to win a little bit did it not? It did to Trackpro, that is for sure, given the horse qualified as a TRIPLE OVERLAY and was marked with three Handicapping Tools! Now, let's recall this statement from the opening paragraph on profitable betting: "There's no single "most" profitable horse betting strategy, but top methods focus on value betting (backing odds that are better than the horse's true chance)" As it turned out, the filly won by a head as shown below in the Daily Racing Form result chart:

Last Raced	Horse	M/Eqt.	A. Wt	PP	St	1/4	1/2	3/4	Str	Fin	Jockey	Odds $1
19Jly25 10Cn17	Calla	L	b	4	123	5	6	6 1/2	5 1/2	5hd	5 1/2	1hd	Meneses M	23.80

And this filly anchored each and every horizontal payoff shown below, as the powerful Trackpro Value Rating (TPV) listed every single winner in the Tampa Bay Downs report last Sunday afternoon!
